COURT CONVENES AT GREENSBORO

Case of Cashier Lee Battle Most Important for Trial.

JUDGE CAUSES SPECULATION

His Charge to Grand Jury May Bring About Indictment of Big Corporation.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
GREENSBORO, N. C., October 4.—The regular October term of the United States Court, Judge Boyd presiding, convened here to-day. There are 100 criminal cases for trial, embracing indictments for illicit distilling, post-office frauds, sending obscene literature through the mails, counterfeiting and embezzlement. The most important case for trial is set for next Tuesday, being that of Lee H. Battle, cashier of the City National Bank, who is indicted for alleged wrecking of this bank, which failed two years ago.

In his charge to the grand jury Judge Boyd laid stress on the anti-trust law, saying that if any one of the jurors knew of the existence of any corporation in the district which operated in restraint of trade, they should present the same to the district attorney, so that he could frame a bill of indictment.

This selection of the subject of trusts by Judge Boyd out of his generalization of offenses against the United States statutes in his charge to the grand jury has already been a topic of speculation here as to whether or not it forecasts or paves the way for prosecution by District Attorney Holton of an immense corporation, operating in his home city of Winston-Salem, which a New York United States court recently declared to be a branch establishment of a corporation which was operating in open violation of the amended Sherman anti-trust law.

Should an indictment be found at this term of court against this big corporation, it will serve to verify rumors which have been current for some time that the district attorney, aided by United States experts, was getting up evidence of alleged acts in restraint of trade.

NORWEGIAN FOUND DEAD IN WOODS

Toano Man Shot Himself Through the Head Yesterday Morning.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
TOANO, VA., October 4.—Summers Strivers, a Norwegian, living near here, was found in the woods near his home about 9 o'clock this morning with a bullet wound in his head. Mr. Strivers had been in ill health for some time, and this is supposed to have been the cause of the suicide, which it evidently was.

Neighbors near-by who went to his house this morning found a note which stated that he had gone to the woods to kill himself. This resulted in the discovery of the body.

The dead man was found lying upon his back with the gun with a string attached to the trigger lying nearby. The string was clasped in his right hand and the gun secured by the means of stobs driven into the ground.

About two months ago Strivers made his own coffin, in which he requested that he be buried. He was fifty years of age, and a bachelor. He is survived by a brother and sister who live in Chicago.
